Temple Update: RIHTS has recently won an auction on a property and building for the purposes of establishing a Hindu temple in RI. The final closing on the structure is expected to complete in the about a month. This is the first step toward finally making the temple a reality and we thank you for your generous support received so far to make this happen.

However, we count on your continued support in terms of financial donations and volunteer work to get the temple operational.

We welcome and appreciate your generous donations in any amount.
